Wrestle me Punk !

Artikel info:-

Pierre, who is new at Fightplace, wants to go to the disco with his girlfriend. On their way there, they drop in to visit Toni and his girlfriend, who were about to make themselves a comfy evening on the sofa. They have lots of drinks and fun in the dim atmosphere. But suddenly, Toni and Pierre get into a dispute, because they could not agree on whether to stay at home or to go to the disco. The girls are intrigued by the dispute, and they push their friends into fighting each other. Soon, the furniture is moved away, and mats are brought into the room. At the beginning, both boys are fighting in jeans, but the girls find this too boring. They want to see more, and they make the boys fight in tangas. They battle gets very exhausted, but the girls cheer their boyfriends on, and so the fight gets harder. The punk, Toni, who sometimes goes overboard, punishes the smaller Pierre. He spits on him with water, and teases him in many other ways. (Caution! This time we chose to forego extra lighting, so as to preserve the original dim atmosphere. It might seem like bad lighting, but it was a conscious decision.)
