Artikel info:-

Crash boom bang "Balls out" is for sure one of the hardest fightplace movies in 2012. It can not really become more brutal. When Jason tries on his new shirt for going out in the evening it comes to blows with Wladi. You might think Jason is too flimsy for beefy Wladi but you are wrong. He really takes not any shit from Wladi. And he has success. He is able to hold Wladi tight on the ground several times. We were surprised how much power and energy comes out of this small-boned boy. A class A rip and strip fight. They drag on their jeans and shirts until they only fight in undies which means thongs. They are neither bothered about destroying a wall nor on their balls hanging out. The main point is fighting. Afterwards we were happy that nothing worse has happened. We could fix the wall and both weren't injured seriously. Who is into real, sweat-inducing fights should definitely get "Balls out" now!

While driving around the boys become hungry and decided to have a stop at the McDrive. After everyone ordered his food Moe noticed that Bob and Jermaine were joking at him. Because he don't want to be the jerk they made the decision to to a ride to the Fightplace-Club. When they arrived Moe and Jermaine want to fight. The loser have to pay the next 10 milkshakes. Bob, who is still around, stays in a neutral position and makes some pictures of their match. Both of them starts the fight, as usual, powerful and agile. Moe and Jermaine never dealt easy with other. They just had a pretty rough match last sommer, which took place outside. So this match is something like revenge for the previous one. Shirtless but in sweatpants they begin the fight and throw each other to the ground quickly. Both of them used many techniques like scissors or headlocks. They didn't fight too long in their sweatpants and undressed them. Their quick stile and the debilitating moves made them warm up quickly. Jermaine is wearing a tight red speedo, Moe is wearing a thong, but not everyone fits that well. He don't care if something slips out. It's all about the fight leading him to victory. Due to some painful moves Moe and Jermaine attacked each other again and again. Even after some long "never give up" moments the winner of this match comes through.
