Conflict Combat

Artikel info:-

Moe has guests over. Finn and MasterKush are chilling with Moe in the Berlin club. Moe can't resist setting the two of them on each other. He wants a fight between the two. His plan works out and Finn takes on the newcomer MasterKush. Finn is a pretty strong boy and takes MasterKush to task. Especially his "armbar" is a real challenge. There is no escape from this grip. MasterKush has no chance against Finn. When Finn rips MasterKush's trousers at the end of the first round, it is the last straw and Moe prepares to intervene. At first, Moe rarely interferes. To give MasterKush a chance, he ties Finn's eyes shut, for example. MasterKush is able to take advantage of this moment, but it is not nearly enough for a victory over Finn. He also has to give up the second round. Now it's time for Moe to take on Finn. Actually, both have only been waiting for this, because the boys don't like each other. That's why they fight very hard right from the start. Now it's Finn's turn. Or his trousers? Moe inflicts on him what Finn inflicted on MasterKush. At the end of the first round Finn gets his briefs torn off. With new pants, it's on to the second round. Also in the second round Moe is ahead and robs Finn of his condition and with nasty ballgrabs and wedgies his last nerve. The chance for MasterKush to step in again and give Finn revenge. He succeeds to some extent, but in the end his power is not enough to stand up to the powerful Finn. Moe can hardly watch MasterKush being tormented by Finn and interferes in the fight again and again. He teases the boys with scraps of cloth lying around and obviously enjoys bullying them. To be continued!
