Battle of strength

Artikel info:-

When Moe meets Finn in the fitness room of our studio in Berlin, it already smells of trouble after a short small talk. And it gets so heated that verbal attacks are followed by an extremely hard physical confrontation. This can end dangerously, because the room is not big and there is equipment around on which one can hurt oneself badly. None of this seems to bother the two brawlers. Within the first few seconds they are already going down and tearing their shirts in the process. It is clear that this fight cannot continue in the small fitness room. Next door, in the mat room, it is to be decided. From the beginning, there is no shortage of nasty tricks. Extreme wedgies that push their trousers to the breaking point, hard ball grabs, the boys leave no stone unturned to get the upper hand in this match. Dangerous is Finn's armbar, his speciality. Once caught in this grip, there is hardly any escape. Moe, on the other hand, uses his nimble legs again and again to get Finn into a leg scissor. The fight is even, as both fighters are about equally strong. This makes it all the more difficult for both to hold their own until the bitter end. But the bitter end is inevitable and especially hard in this fight. And here, nothing is faked. See Moe get really angry at the end because Finn first gives up and then attacks again. The situation is about to escalate!
